STIGLETS/RICHARDS
A SPECIAL COLLECTION

The Stiglets/Richards collection is a composite of personal and business records and papers, photographs, and artifacts from John and Victoria Richards Stiglets, their children, and family connections. The materials in this collection were the possessions of Althea Stiglets Arnold (1897-1987), daughter of John and Victoria. The collection was donated to the Biloxi Public Library by her son, Robert E. Arnold, in the summer of 1990.

John Stiglets (1855-1930), son of Vicent Stiglets (1805-1893) and Felice Ladner (1824-1896), was born on the Biloxi River in the Lorraine community of Harrison County. He married Victoria Richards (1866-1947), daughter of Moses Richards (1831-1925) and Martha Ann Bennett Fayard (1841-1917), of the same area. John Stiglets, a sea captain, worked with his brothers in the operation of Stiglets Landing on the Biloxi River at Coalville (Woolmarket). John and Victoria made their home with their 7 children on Main Street (Pass Road) in Handsboro.

Stiglets Landing was founded on the Biloxi River after the Civil War by John Stiglets' brother, Captain Joseph Marion Stiglets. He was aided in the business by his five brothers, captains of his fleet of five sailing schooners. At the height of the early lumber industry, Joseph Stiglets employed 500 men in logging and shipping. Goods such as resin, turpentine, beeswax, charcoal and wool were brought from as far away as 100 miles around in ox-drawn freight wagons over the old Augusta-Caravan Route to Stiglets Landing. There, the goods were loaded aboard the Stiglets schooners and exported to New Orleans and Mobile. Lumber from Stiglets' sawmills was shipped to the port on Ship Island and exported out to the world. At Stiglets' general store at the Landing, food staples, household goods, and tools could be purchased, or traded for the raw products from the pine forest. For the trader who had come a long way, Stiglets Landing provided a hot meal and a place to bed down for the night. Stiglets Landing was a booming business until the depletion of the pine forest and the advent of the Gulf & Ship Island Railroad made commercial river transportation obsolete.

ON THE BEACH AND OFF

chards, little land is under cultivation. Sedge fields alternating with the stumpy cut-over land give little evidence of the tall pine forests that once crowded the highway.

At 14.9 m. is the junction with a rough country road.

Left on this shaded dirt lane is FRITZ'S CREEK, 0.5 m., a narrow deep stream with grassy banks. Fishing for speckled trout, perch, and bream; tackle and boats for rent. The creek bank is the site of a shipyard built in the 1840's by Vincent Stiglets, an immigrant from Austria, and the father of Capt. Joseph Marion Stiglets. All traces of the settlement have been obliterated, and except for fishing parties and campers the woods are undisturbed.

Between the junction and Handsboro dense tracts of second-growth timber intersperse the long stretches of sedge fields.

The HANDSBORO CEMETERY, 17.5 m., (R) on a cedar and oak-shaded knoll, holds some of the oldest burials in the section. Many of the graves are covered by shells, and the tombstones often are draped with Spanish moss.

At 17.7 m. is the junction with a private lane along Bayou Bernard.

Left on the lane is the HENRY LEGGETT HOUSE (open by permission), 0.1 m., built in 1840 by Sheldon Hand. Marked by a pleasing solidarity, the house is a two-and-a-half story white frame structure of planter type, with square columns across the broad double-deck porch. Two French doors and four small-paned windows open on the galleries. Three dormers light the upper half-story. Constructed of hand-hewn timber and pinned together with pegs, the house originally had open halls on both floors; these halls are now enclosed. In the yard are old magnolias whose dark foliage throws shadows across the house.

On this same drive at 0.2 m. (L) is the HENRY KRAMER HOUSE (open by permission), a companion structure to the Leggett House built by Sheldon Hand in 1840. Both houses are in good repair and represent the ideals of the Gulf Coast builder who embodied both sturdiness and spaciousness in his architecture.

At 17.8 m. the highway crosses BAYOU BERNARD, which forms the northern boundary of Handsboro. The bayou was named for a well-respected "free Negro" who first settled on the stream. The Handsboro Democrat, a half-century ago, referred to him as a "prince of pioneers." The editorial continued to state that he was "a Negro, a slave-owner and a Catholic, praised and honored by his contemporaries, and further known to us through his namesake, Bayou Bernard, by which he lived when its waters were profaned by no commerce but the woodman's log-raft." On the bayou (L) are dredges that suck gravel and sand from the bayou for commercial use.

At HANDSBORO, 18.3 m. (1,200 pop.), is the junction with the Pass Road (see OLD PASS ROAD).

Between Handsboro and US 90 the route continues to the sea on Cowan Road, named for the family who in the 1840's helped carve the road out of wilderness. Modest cottages of Negroes and whites and wooded areas trace the road to the Gulf.

At 19.4 m. is the junction with US 90 (see ALONG THE BEACH FRONT).

SHIP ISLAND, one of the chain of low, sandy bars separating the Mississippi Sound from the Gulf of Mexico, is approximately seven miles long and half-a-mile wide. With the exception of the heavily wooded eastern end, it is windswept, with a grim old fort, wastes of sand, and whitecapped breakers that crash against the shore giving to it the atmosphere and scenic effect of a mystery play. Its history is as exciting as fiction:

On the north side of the island Iberville landed on February 10, 1699, calling the site "Surgeres" in honor of Comte de Surgeres, commander of the frigate Le Marin, who had discovered it the day before. For many weeks Iberville's ships lay at anchor in the harbor while he examined the mainland; throughout the next twenty years the island, by then "designated as Ship Island because the French found there the best shelter for their ships," remained the base for French exploration along the Gulf. Even after the capital was removed from Biloxi to New Orleans in 1722, French vessels used it as a port of entry. To the island in 1704 came the relief ship Pelican bearing livestock, food, and merchandise, besides a curé, mission-when he took a job at a shipyard on the Biloxi River, hauling wood chips from the shipyard for five cents a day.

Young Stigletts, the son of Austrian parents, was born on Aug. 9, 1853, on Lorriane Road near where the Mississippi Power Company generating plant stands today, one of 12 children.

Trough hard work and thrift, he would become a community leader and businessman who would be responsible for founding the community of Woolmarket.

By the time he was 13 years old, Stigletts had saved enough money to buy a small second-hand skiff which he used to row to Biloxi to buy groceries for the people in his community.

Then, after several years he went to work on a boat owned by the J.J. Cowart Sawmill at Handsboro. The sawmill used small motor boats and schooners to haul timber from the mill to Ship Island where it was loaded aboard foreign ships.

He was at the sawmill only a short while when he became captain of one of the mill boats, and he soon saved enough money to buy his own schooner, the "J. McAffrey."

Stigletts then built a grocery store on a place he named Stiglett's Lake, and a short while later, he married Mellissa Stewart, daughter of James Stewart, the man who owned much of what is Woolmarket today along the Biloxi River.

His father-in-law gave a tract of land on the lake to Stigletts, and it was here he bought a home from a man named Grayson and established Stigletts' General Merchandise.

Stigletts used his schooner to freight stock to his store. He then purchased another schooner, the "Albert Baldwin," which he used to freight charcoal and turpentine to New Orleans.

During this period, the bridge washed out on the road from Mississippi City to Red Creek, which ran near Stigletts', and he established a ferry service.

As his businesses expanded, he began freighting wool on his schooners to New Orleans. He built a large warehouse where the wool was stored and put in 300-pound bags.

Stigletts allowed people to stay at his place when they conducted business with him. It was a center of activity. It was here in the 1890's that Colonel Hardy made his first speech regarding the building the Gulf and Ship Island Railroad at Gulfport. Some 3,000 people were at Stigletts' to hear the speech.

His wife was credited for the Fourth of July celebrations which were held each year at Stigletts'. Large crowds would attend the annual picnic with the food furnished by Stigletts.

Activities, which were held on a large "green" or lawn, included games and shooting fireworks. The people came in wagons and boats, and usually a band from Biloxi was on hand.

In 1891, the post office at Stonewall was moved about a mile down the river to Stigletts', and it was at that time that the community got the name it has today, when the

The future of modern rock, Southern is in the hands of the Marshall Tucker Band, a former musical protege of Allman Brothers.

There are a few reasons why the Marshall Tucker Band, which no longer bears resemblance to Allmans, has replaced Macon-based group leader of Southern. The Allmans, Southern trendsetters in the Seventies, are trying to live on a reputation last three years, they failed to establish a defined direction.

Lynyrd Skynyrd, most powerful and bunctious rock and gregation in America, is in a Wet Willie has yet the album it is creating. The Charles Band lacks the ity and inventiveness must have in order to be taken seriously.

The Marshall Band has sided with stumbling block contemporaries, fortunately tried recently.

company to look over their maps and charts.

He selected several lots, all with reference to their location upon the dummy line and lake as shown by the map. Before completing the purchase, he expressed a wish to see the land, and, acting under the directions of the company, one of their corps of engineers pointed out the locations of the lots, which he considered located even more advantageously than were shown by the map. The terms were agreed upon and the defendant paid a portion of the money down and gave notes for the balance, payable in one, two and three years. Now it is developed that the location of the proposed lake has been changed and the course of the railroad altered. Instead of being immediately upon it the lots are one-fourth of a mile from it, and instead of being upon the broad expanse of water the defendant says he was led to believe, the lots are situated at the head of the lake, where every kind of driftwood will collect, where the shallow water will be covered with unalightly grass and weeds, and which will give forth noxious odors from the decayed vegetation dangerous to health. When these facts became known to the defendant he applied to the company to have the trade declared off and his money refunded. Upon their refusal to comply with his request he appeals to the courts. — Birmingham Age.

A Plucky Matp.

Mobile Register.

Last Saturday the British bark Onward, Capt. S. V. I. Wright, cleared from Pensacola for Mobile, in ballast and in tow of the tug Mary Louise. She ran into a stiff breeze and the hawser parted. The captain and the pilot of the bark were at the time on the tug, and as presented a very handsome silver bowl to Mrs. Davis and an elegant diamond pin to Mrs. Hayes in the name of the people of Macon. A beautiful diamond ornament was presented to Miss Winifred Davis to-night at the German. After the address it was announced that Mrs. Davis and daughters would repair to Col. Hardeman's home, and be pleased to meet each lady personally. The ladies gladly availed themselves of the pleasure. It was a most delightful event, and was greatly enjoyed by all.

MARRIED.

On Thursday, Oct. 20, 1887, at the residence of the bride's parents, No. 228 Erie street, New Orleans, Mr. JOHN RICHMOND, of Gillsburg, Amite county, Miss., and Miss ALEXINA CECILIA ANDERSON.

Miss Cecilia was a former resident of Scranton, and is kindly remembered by her many friends who join us in congratulations and good wishes for her and the one she has chosen with whom to journey through life.

IN MEMORIAM.

TO URSULA STIGLET.

Died, on Saturday, Oct. 15, 1887, in Stonewall, Miss., at the age of 30 years and 6 months.

"In the midst of life we are in death." The angel of death spread its dark wings over a happy home and robbed it of one of its brightest jewels. Mother, father, sisters and brothers have watched, nursed and prayed its stay death's destroying hand, yet, alas! he's gone to meet the Supreme Architect of the universe.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.

—Last Monday Col. W. R. Stuart, of Ocean Springs, sold to Col. A. E. Lewis four pure-blood Merinoes. As an evidence of the value of pure bloods as compared with natives we want no better recommendation than the fact that this veteran in sheep raising is investing in improved breeds. Col. Stuart has a few more for sale at reasonable prices, and those wishing to improve their flocks should apply to him soon.

—No place on the coast is surpassed by Ocean Springs as a healthy and pleasant resort, and among the many delightfully situated hotels and boarding-houses the Oak Cottage stands second to none. It is beautifully situated looking out upon the gulf, and Mrs. Julia Ward, the proprietress, knows how to please, and spares neither pains nor trouble to make her guests feel at home. She has a new card in this issue, which please read.

—To-night (Friday) the most enjoyable event of the season comes off at Seranton academy under the auspices of the ladies aid society. They will have ice cream, soda water, lemonade, cake, fruit, etc., all of which will be sold at reasonable prices. No extortion will be allowed. Every young man should go and take his sweat-heart, (and if he has none, take some other young man's), and every married man should take his wife and children.

—We haven't room this week for the communication of "Bashful Youth," but learn from him that the picnic given at Elders ferry on the 29th ult., was a very pleasant success. He says not many young men were there, but there was "no end to the pretty girls," which we are glad to learn. The day was spent in boating, turtle-hunting, rambling among the woods, etc. The dinner was composed of everything good, and every one done justice to that part of the exercises.

BOAT LAUNCHING.

The Schooner A. J. Ramsay Launched from Stiglet's Shipyard on Bayou Point-Platte, Harrison County.

At about 5 o'clock Saturday evening, May the 25th, with flags flying, and in the presence of a large crowd of ladies, gentlemen, and children, at the given signal the props were removed, and amid the shouts of the assembled multitude the A. J. Ramsay bounded into the water like a thing of life. There were about eighty-four persons on board when the vessel darted into the bayou, all of whom experienced a most pleasant sensation as they were swiftly carried forward.

The A. J. Ramsay is intended for the lake coast trade, is built of first class material, and has a capacity of forty thousand feet lumber. She was built for Mr. V. Stiglet, by Mr. Thos. Stiglet, and is named for our Harrison county representative, Hon. A. J. Ramsay. Mr. Ramsay was confined to his bed at the time, and was debarred the pleasure of being present upon the occasion, which was regretted by his friends present.

After the vessel was afloat Mr. Thos. Stiglet invited those present to partake of wine, cake and other refreshments, which all seemed to enjoy, and many toasts were drunk to the success of the beautiful craft. At night the young folks repaired to the residence of Mr. V. Stiglet, near by, where the night was spent in dancing and other pleasures, and all had a happy time. Mr. Thos. Stiglet, the builder, is a Harrison county boy, is a good workman, a clever gentleman and deserves success, which he is sure to attain. We wish the clever owner of the Ramsay, Mr. V. Stiglet, much prosperity and many safe trips with his elegant schooner.

REGINA HINES

Certified Genealogical Record Searcher

A massive collection of photos, papers and artifacts of Harrison County's Stiglets-Arnold family could fill in some gaps and provide clues for Coast searchers.

The possessions, recently donated to the genealogy section of Biloxi Public Library, were handed down in the family of John Stiglets (1855 - 1930) and his wife, Victoria Richards (1866-1947). John's parents were Vincent and Felice Ladner Stiglets. The family, active in logging and shipping businesses, settled in the prairie area of Harrison County along the Biloxi River following the Civil War.

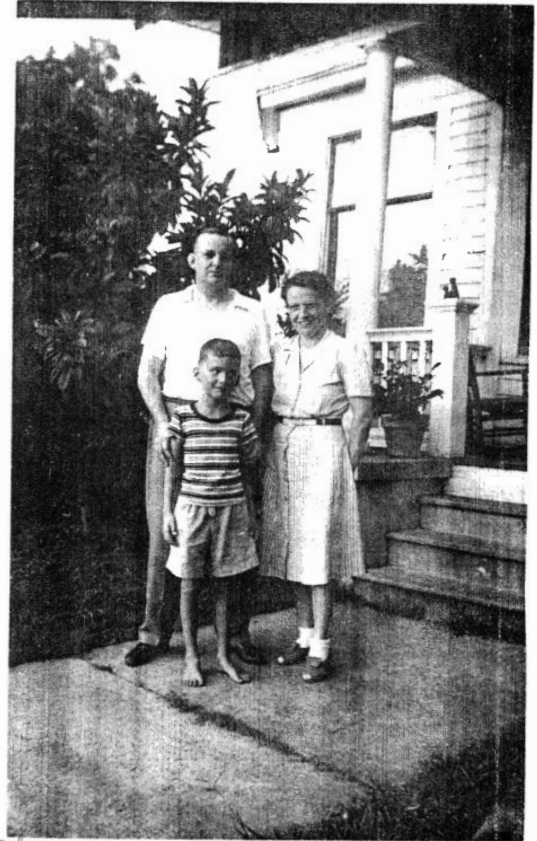

Murella Powell, Biloxi genealogy librarian, said a Stiglets grandson, Robert E. Arnold, donated the boxes of items that were formerly kept by his mother, Althea Stiglets Arnold (1897-1987). The collection, that has now catalogued and placed in separate files for easier research, is dedicated to the memory of Victoria Richards "Mama Tig" Stiglets.

Hundreds of old photos of people and places in Harrison County are the jewels of the collection, but 118 of the pictures of people still have not been identified. Ms. Powell welcomes anyone who can help determine the identity of the unknown people.

A brief history of the family refaces the index to the collection. Estate papers, correspondence, obituaries clipped from newspapers and even a horoscope reading for Althea Stiglets Arnold are among the fascinating contents that might yield clues for family researchers. Documents also mention the names Frentz, Gautier, Krebs, Sias, Taltavol, Beasley, Martin, McBean and other Harrison-Jackson County families. A genealogy of the Arnold family is included in the collection.

The Wool Market

Woolmarket, Mississippi

Here, at the end of Old Woolmarket Road, is one of the most beautiful home sites on the Coast. "The old Stiglets place," overlooking Stiglets Lake, reportedly was built in the 1820s and served as the Stiglets' home from 1880 until 1978. Today it is occupied by Lewis and Dani Tillson.

Mr. Stiglets was a merchant shipper and operated 6 schooners from his docks and warehouse located on the shore of Stiglets Lake. The family store was also nearby. Each summer and fall, this site bustled with activity as it became the wool market for a large area of South Mississippi.

Throughout the year, naval stores, farm produce, pecans, charcoal and other items were shipped from this point. Early this century the railroad signaled the passing of the schooners. The wool market, once held in this quiet setting, passed away as well.

Dear Rita -

I was finally able to hear from Lulu's daughter - Betty Hone - who had moved to Georgia. I knew she had taken Lulu to Georgia then brought her back to miss. To a nursing home. I did not know she had passed away - at nearly 101 years old.

I would like to ask if you could put this write up in the Stiglits file in the Pascagoula library. She was #8 daughter of Joseph Stiglits. Bud and I had a nice visit with her and found her to be very interesting.

I have recently met a young man - Tony Stiglits from the Moses line. I gave him a lot of information I had on hand.

I have not been over there in a good many years. I am having trouble with my legs.

Thank you in advance - Sincerely
Rosalie

"That was one of the most rewarding experiences," she said. "He used to say (the election) was a matter of life and death."

A Democrat, Stiglet was elected to his second term in November 1987 with 75 percent of the vote.

A Bay High School graduate, Stiglet studied autopsies and death investigations at Southwest Mississippi Junior College and the University of Mississippi Medical Center. He was a member of the St. Stanislaus Sideline Club, the Hancock County Lawmen's Association and the State Coroner's Association.

Donald Dorn, police chief in Waveland and a good friend, said Stiglet would "go out of his way to help" the families he dealt with as coroner.

"He did more than I've seen other coroners do. I know everybody's going to miss him."

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Norma Collier Stiglet of Bay St. Louis; two sons, John A. Stiglet of Waveland and Harold "Buddy" Stiglet Jr. of Bay St. Louis; four daughters, Mrs. Charlotte S. Stiglet's daughter, Charlene Rutledge of Bay St. Louis, said her father's job is what kept him going during the years he was ill.

Being coroner was "what he lived for, helping families, working with people," she said. "He enjoyed what he was doing."

eight great-grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. H. M. Sias of Hattiesburg and Mrs. Edwin Arnold of Mobile.

Mr. Stiglets was a member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, the Knights of Columbus and the Quarter Century Club of Hercules, Inc.

He was employed by the Yaryan Rosin and Terpentine Co. in Gulfport when Hercules bought the plant and moved it to Hattiesburg in 1923. Mr. Stiglets was included in the package and had lived here ever since.

He helped construct the original Hattiesburg plant and remained there as master mechanic for 43 years and seven months of continuous service before retiring Nov. 30, 1955.

For years, "Mr. Stig" was Mr. Baseball in Hattiesburg. He managed semi-professional baseball teams here for some 15 years. At first the teams were sponsored by Hercules and later he continued as manager when they became independent. Later he was state semi-pro baseball commissioner for a number of years. Mr. Stiglets and his ever-present cigar were known by players and fans throughout Mississippi.

The Stiglets' children also were active in sports, with all of the boys playing baseball and football and one daughter, Joanne, playing tennis and golf at the University of Southern Mississippi on an athletic scholarship.

An article about Mr. Stiglets in The Union Review just prior to his retirement from Hercules concluded:

"Stig" was even in politics at one time, having been mayor of Handsboro, Miss., in the early days before he went to work for Hercules.

"He could easily be elected mayor of Hattiesburg today, what with the landslide of votes that could be contributed by his children and his grandchildren—plus the many friends that Stig has in this town—no one person has more.

"Every Herculite on this plant will miss 'The Master' when he retires Nov. 30—but the master deserves a retirement—no better or better liked man will ever again go to work for Hercules Powder Company than 'The Master,' John Alva Stiglets."

J. A. Stiglets dies; rites at 4:30 Wednesday

John Alva Stiglets, Sr., retired master mechanic who helped build the local plant of Hercules, Inc., and worked there for more than 40 years, died at 10:20 p.m. Monday at Methodist Hospital. He was 79.

A resident of 804 West Pine St., Mr. Stiglets had been ill for several months.

The body will be in state at Hulett Funeral Home beginning at 5 p.m. today and rosary will be said at the funeral home at 7:30 tonight.

Services will be at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday at Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Monsignor Michael McCarthy, pastor, will officiate. Entombment will be in Roseland Park Mausoleum.

Born in Lorraine, Miss., near Woolmarket, Mr. Stiglets was married in 1914 to the former Felicie Delmas. They became the parents of 14 children, two of whom are deceased, Mrs. J. P. (Bernice) Peterson and Martha Jean Stiglets.

Surviving, in addition to his wife, are seven daughters, Mrs. L. J. (Ethel) O'Flynn, Mrs. J. R. (Joanne) Walters, Mrs. Frank (Shirley) Schmidt, all of

Israeli jets shot seven Syrian

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli jets shot down seven Syrian MIG fighters over the occupied Golan Heights today, a military spokesman said.

An Israeli army announcement said the MIGs were intercepted by Israeli aircraft and a 30-minute dogfight took place at altitudes ranging from 10,000 to 20,000 feet.

Damascus radio said Syrian planes intercepted the Israeli planes over Syrian territory and forced them to flee. It said nothing about any Syrian plane losses.

The MIGs crossed into Israeli-held territory near Queneitra in the highlands taken from Syria by the Israelis in the 1967 war, the spokesman said.

It was the biggest single score claimed by Israeli pilots since the six-day war.

The Israelis downed their last Syrian MIG May 29.

Since then there has been little air activity on the Syrian-Israeli cease-fire line.

But in air battles with the Egyptians the Israelis claim to have chalked up a total of 27 Soviet-built MIGs shot down since 1967.

We are not clear yet on Harry Jason Stiglets Sr. parents. On one place we have Vincent, Jr., August 8, 1850 married to Caldonia Watson, and we do know that Caldonia was his mother. She died a few days after his birth. He always said there had been a sister, Missouri, who died at an early age from a fall down some stairs. () It is also known that she did not want to raise Harry so he was raised by his Aunt Anna Stiglets, who was married to Frank Taltaval. She was the 12th child of Vincent Stiglets and Felice Ladnier.

In the 1900 Census, Harrison County, Mississippi City, we find a Briscoe Stiglets, 36 years of age, married to Mary 27, with 3 children:

| Son | James, 8 months |
| Daughter | Missouri, 6 years |
| Son | Harry, 3 years |

The birthdates of Vincent, Jr. and Briscoe are not the same, as we had hoped. We will trace more records and make corrections later. Census records often vary, depending on the person giving the information.

AN ABORTIVE ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE.

On last Saturday, about noon, Mr.
Thos. S. Stiglets, of this place, made an attempt at suicide by shooting himself just behind the ear with a pistol, the ball coming out at the back of the head. The ball never penetrated the skull, but glanced around it.
Whether it was from the position of the pistol, want of force in the powder, or hardness of the skull, it is hard to tell which that caused the ball to take the course it did. But the attempt was evidently well intended and would, perhaps, have been repeated had not the pistol been taken from him. He gave us an excuse for wanting the pistol in the morning that he wanted to send it to Mobile for repairs, but when told that it needed no repairs he found some other excuse and brought it down to his marine ways, and hid it under a block, from whence he withdrew it to commit the crime of self-murder.
During the day he had been imbibing pretty freely, but at the same time complaining of a pain in his head, which has become a pretty common thing with him ever since along in the summer, when he took a dive from the window of his house and fell on his head, which he says was caused from his dreaming that he was going to take a dive into the river.

If the man is insane he is to be pitied, but if the attempt was deliberate he should have succeeded.

—It is a real pleasure at this time to visit the shipyard of Mr. Geo. Frentz, and see the facilities he has for drawing out vessels and putting them in thorough repair. The idea of getting out knees and heavy timbers by hand is now a thing of the past. A large knee, which a short time ago was the work of hours for a skilled mechanic, is now, by the aid of his band saw, cut in five minutes, and so on with all heavy timbers. He has now hauled out and cut in two the schooner Minnie Irvin, owned by Dantzler & Alberts, which is to be lengthened 23 feet, and will be strengthened by bulkheads running her entire length.
The schooner Eliza B., which was wrecked on Ship Island, is there hailed up and having a new bottom put on. The Pretty-Jemima is also undergoing repairs.

Special to Biloxi Herald.

About noon today Thomas S. Stigcame out at the back of the head. It is supposed he turned his face toward the pistol at the time of firing, which caused the ball to take the course it did. He attempted a second shot cause is assigned for the deed.

Even at present high prices no one can plant all or nearly all cotton, buy food and grain at present prices from money. Food and grain is higher in proportion than are present cotton prices.

It's a time above all others to play safe; to produce all possible food, acres; to cut down the store bill.

eight great-grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. H. M. Sias of Hattiesburg and Mrs. Edwin Arnold of Mobile.

Mr. Stiglets was a member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, the Knights of Columbus and the Quarter Century Club of Hercules, Inc.

He was employed by the Yarnan Rosin and Terpine Co. in Gulfport when Hercules bought the plant and moved it to Hattiesburg in 1923. Mr. Stiglets was included in the package and had lived here ever since.

He helped construct the original Hattiesburg plant and remained there as master mechanic for 43 years and seven months of continuous service before retiring Nov. 30, 1955.

For years, "Mr. Stig" was Mr. Baseball in Hattiesburg. He managed semi-professional baseball teams here for some 15 years. At first the teams were sponsored by Hercules and later he continued as manager when they became independent. Later he was state semi-pro baseball commissioner for a number of years. Mr. Stiglets and his ever-present cigar were known by players and fans throughout Mississippi.

The Stiglets' children also were active in sports, with all of the boys playing baseball and football and one daughter, Joanne, playing tennis and golf at the University of Southern Mississippi on an athletic scholarship.

An article about Mr. Stiglets in The Union Review just prior to his retirement from Hercules concluded:

"'Stig' was even in politics at one time, having been mayor of Hattiesburg, Miss., in the early days before he went to work for Hercules.

"He could easily be elected mayor of Hattiesburg today, what with the landslide of votes that could be contributed by his children and his grandchildren—plus the many friends that Stig has in this town—no one person has more.

"Every Herculean on this plant will miss 'The Master' when he retires Nov. 30—but the master deserves a retirement—no better or better liked man will ever again go to work for Hercules Powder Company than 'The Master,' John Alva Stiglets."

Israeli jets shot seven Syrian

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli jets shot down seven Syrian MIG fighters over the occupied Golan Heights today, a military spokesman said.

An Israeli army announcement said the MIGs were intercepted by Israeli aircraft and a 30-minute dogfight took place at altitudes ranging from 10,000 to 20,000 feet.

Damascus radio said Syrian planes intercepted the Israeli planes over Syrian territory and forced them to flee. It said nothing about any Syrian plane losses.

The MIGs crossed into Israeli-held territory near Quneitra in the highlands taken from Syria by the Israelis in the 1957 war, the spokesman said.

It was the biggest single scored claimed by Israeli pilots since the six-day war.

The Israelis downed their last Syrian MIG May 29.

Since then there has been little air activity on the Syrian-Israeli cease-fire line.

But in air battles with the Egyptians the Israelis claim to have chalked up a total of 27 Soviet-built MIGs shot down since 1967.
